Editor's Column

State Controller Alan Cranston, last week, told members of the Monterey County Bar Association that one of local government's greatest problems is "the tangle of overlapping tax jurisdictions." He cited county and city property taxation among examples of this overlapping.

The Carmel city council, also the Pacific Grove city council, have taken cognizance, too, of this overlapping and sent resolutions to the Monterey County Board of Supervisors protesting one instance of what both councils call an "unfair, if not illegal" county tax levy on property owners of the two municipalities.

Presently, Monterey County has entered into a contract with the State Division of Forestry to provide structural fire protection for CERTAIN DESIGNATED areas of the county.

Both Carmel and Pacific Grove city councils maintain that the payment for such service from the general tax revenues of the county is unfair, if not illegal, use of the property taxes paid by property owners in cities where public fire protection is provided solely by municipal taxes.

Both councils maintain, also, that use of taxes paid by city property owners to provide structural fire protection to the certain designated areas constitutes "a gift of public funds." These areas are generally on the outskirts of cities in which property owners pay city taxes to maintain fire departments, also pay county taxes to provide structural fire protection for their neighbors in unincorporated areas.

As a result, Carmel and Pacific Grove city councils have asked the county board of supervisors to correct this overlapping tax inequity by proceeding to set up special service districts. By this means, property owners in the unincorporated urban areas would pay special taxes to provide structural fire protection in each area. This would be a fairer distribution of costs.

Both the Carmel and Pacific Grove councils have taken a courageous step to correct an unfair allocation of tax monies paid by city property owners. The two councils, also, have tackled one of local government's greatest problems, according to State Controller Alan Cranston.

They are endeavoring to straighten out the tangle of overlapping tax jurisdictions which Mr. Cranston called "a monster for the taxpayer." M.L.

Jerry Winters, a pianist who plays everything from Bach to Bop, and Susan Scott, a singer with a music and drama background, are seen above. They will appear with Mike Noon, banjo player and singer, in "An Evening's Musicale" at Sunset auditorium on Saturday. Producers of the show are Marian Fischer of Carmel and Richard Penoyer of Pebble Beach.

The program will consist of tunes from Broadway shows which have become national favorites, also some of Mike Noon's original satirical songs.

Jerry and Susan were performing at a night club in Carmel Valley when they met Mike. They convinced him that show tunes had value. He was dazzled by their musicianship and singing. Together the three young entertainers spent many happy evenings working out songs together.

Jerry Winters has toured in summer stock productions and has appeared on the Dinah Shore and Tennessee Ernie Ford television shows.

Susan Scott graduated from the school of drama at Michigan State University, then taught drama and costuming. She has appeared in a number of productions including "The Pirates of Penzance," "She Stoops to Conquer" and "Pajama Game."

Mike says he started his stage career as a pumpkin in a third grade play but blew his lines so badly during rehearsals that his understudy played in the final production. This summer he has been in Vancouver, British Columbia. He arrived here July 28 to work with Susan and Jerry on the final touches for their Carmel performance this weekend.

Bicycle Riders To Compete For State Championship Here

A new sports event is scheduled at Pebble Beach on Sunday, when 50 to 75 bicycle riders will compete in the state championships over a winding 8½-mile course in Del Monte Forest.

The event will begin at 7:30 a.m. near the Pebble Beach stables. Junior contestants (ages 14-17) will complete 50 miles, and the seniors (ages 17 and up) 100 miles.

The Northern California Cycling Association is sponsoring the competition.

SUPERVISORS SET DATE FOR HUMBLE OIL HEARING

The Monterey County Board of Supervisors will hold a public hearing on August 31 at 2 p.m. on the application of Humble Oil Company to erect and operate an oil refinery at Moss Landing.

The Monterey County Planning Commission, last week, denied this application by a 5-4 vote.

Council Has Solution For Girl Scout, Library And Forest Theater Problems

A hopeful and happy proposal for housing the Girl Scouts of the Carmel area, also expanding the city's Harrison Memorial Library, and solution of litigation between Carmel Girl Scout trustees and the Monterey Bay Area Girl Scout Council was contained in a resolution passed by the city council last night. The same action proposed, too, repair and use of the deteriorated city-owned Forest Theater and the indoor premises under the outdoor stage.

The Carmel Girl Scout House burned in 1963 and the ruins were demolished recently. Since the fire, there has been litigation between the area council and the Carmel trustees as to who owned the facility and should collect the $19,300 insurance on it.

In 1928, the Carmel Library Association deeded to the trustees of the Carmel Girl Scouts the building which was the city's first library. The question about this transaction is if the library association was transferring city property. If so, the city, also the library, has a claim to the 40 by 100 foot lot at the northwest corner of Sixth and Lincoln.

In addition, when the Carmel Girl Scouts became associated with the Monterey Bay Girl Scout Council, a claim that ownership of the Carmel Girl Scout House was not transferred to the council has been a prime cause of the litigation since the fire.

A solution to all this confusion was proposed in the city council's

ANNEXATION HEARING

The second Monterey County Local Agency Formation Commission public hearing on petitions to annex to Carmel circulated by residents of Mission Fields, Walker Tract, Mission Tract, Rio Way Tract and a westerly portion of Hatton Fields Mesa, will be held on Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. in the Monterey County Supervisors' chambers in the county courthouse in Salinas.

City Taxes Up 22 Cents

Last night, the city council approved a $746,379 budget for the 1965-66 fiscal year and set the municipal tax rate at $1.28. This is 22 cents higher than last year.

Carvel Baldwin, a Carmel property owner, told the council that he had carefully perused the new budget and saw only one item which might be eliminated. This was the $16,000 cost of providing stage lighting for Sunset auditorium. He asked the council to reconsider this expenditure in what was otherwise "a very good" budget.

Another property owner, M. G. Gulley, complimented the city's finance officer, Arthur M. Plaxton, and the city's administrator, Hugh Bayless, on the budget which had "very little tatting around the edges." However, Mr. Gulley warned councilmen that certain basic considerations of the municipal budget might lead to their "being pestered by this gadfly" in another year.

A move to reconsider the $16,000 expenditure, made by Councilman Gunnar Norberg, died for lack of a second.

Councilman Stephen Grant stated that he had inspected the Sunset premises recently and felt even more strongly than he did before that electrical equipment should be provided.

Councilman Eben Whittlesey said that the lighting was one of the most serious deficiencies in the auditorium which is a deteriorated facility with limited uses. He added that he would like to see the "unsafe and hazardous" situation remedied.

Mayor Herbert Blanks declared there was nothing he would like to do more than reduce the tax rate by eight cents. The cost of the lighting was equal to "one dinner out" based on the $6,000 assessed valuation of his home, and not worth eliminating, he observed.

Councilman James C. Buffington, pointed out that his commercial property was assessed much higher than the Mayor's home but he was not "beefing" about the new tax rate.

City Administrator Hugh Bayless told the council that the new city tax rate would be only 15 percent of the property tax assessed in Carmel for all purposes this year.

School Taxes Down 4 Cents

Although the $2,422,725 budget adopted by the trustees of the Carmel Unified School District last night, after a public hearing in Mariquita Brey Hall at the high school, is up $142,263 over last year, an increase in total assessed valuation will result in a $.041 decrease in the property tax rate from last year's $2.570 to $2.529 for 1965-66.

The adjusted budget approved by the board, with Clayton Neill Jr. absent, includes an increase of $1,600 over the publication budget figure for the possible rental of additional facilities at Sunset. That increase is somewhat offset by additional income from a reduction in current liabilities through the cancellation of undelivered prior year orders amounting to $1,219. An increase of $381 in secured roll taxes does not effect the estimated tax rate.

The sole comments on the budget from a thinly scattered audience came from Major General James H. Phillips (USA ret.), who said, "I think you are to be congratulated . . . some of the others (school districts) are going up and we are going down."

General Phillips, however, cautioned the trustees to consider in future financial needs the necessity of connecting the sewer system of Middle School with the Carmel Sanitary District system. He suggested that it might be feasible, and less expensive, for the school district to tie into sewer lines being installed for adjacent subdivisions.

The general closed his remarks with a reminder to the trustees of their "unfulfilled" promise to assist with the landscaping and maintenance of the exterior appearance of Middle School.

Councilman Stephen Grant came up with a dilly of a definition at the August 21 council meeting. "An expert," he said, "is a guy with a brief case far from home."

As a pine nut, once in a while I overhear some pretty silly remarks such as,

"Money may talk, but today's dollar doesn't have cents enough to say much."

I thought the same number of cents per dollar make the same old clatter but today's prices render this noise senseless.

Salinas seems to be piqued by "a certain heavier populated city to the north "which lays claim to being more highly cultured than Salinas but outdoes our county capital by having "More Bars, Beatniks, Bosoms (courtesy of Silicone, Inc.) and Bridges (Harry)." The upshot is that, in March, Salinas Performing Arts was incorporated as a non-profit organization and on August 7 will present "Kiss Me Kate" in the Salinas High School auditorium. The Cole Porter show will be given at Fort Ord's Service Club No. 1 on August 8 at 8 p.m. Civilians are invited to this performance free of charge.

Whatever the reasons for the show, the cause is good—to provide a college scholarship.

Those blue jays again. Paul Vial, whose blue jays take peanuts from his hand but drop them, unopened, in the yard of his next-door neighbor, has been asked to stop giving them walnuts, please. A gardener who cares tenderly for the premises of another of Mr. Vial's neighbors, says his lawn mower is being ruined by running over whole walnuts. We don't know who's extravagant enough to feed the jays in this maner, but Mr. Vial is not guilty.

And a man who was watching some birds at a park in Monterey swears the following is true. A jay after carefully eyeing some litter on the ground, picked up a piece of wax paper, flew to the open refuse can and dropped it in. The gentleman drove off shaking his head after the bird returned for the paper cup and deposited it, too, in the container. Maybe the jays should be organized for patrol duty against litterbugs.

Dorothy von Meier, chairman and poet laureate of the Carmel Planning Commission, who is on a world tour, promised she would send home "reports" to the stay-at-home commissioners. Below are two already received.

Aloha from Hawaii, the land of poi;
Pineapples & orchids and girl meets boy,
Where black-haired hula girls sway their hips,
And giddy tourists wave from ships.

The ocean's wide & wet; the food is good
I've not been seasick yet; didn't think I would.
When we leave here we go to Old Nippon,
Kyoto, Tokyo, Kobe, and further on—

Aloha

Oh Geisha and Ginza incense and fans
I've seen the beauty that is Japan's
Admired the Buddhas & walked 'neath the Torri
Reveled in Kyoto's charm and Osaka's glory
We leave the serenity of Mt. Fujii's crest
And head for Hong-Kong due southwest.

Margaret Silvey

Mrs. Margaret Silvey, mother of Kip Silvey of Carmel and Corral de Tierra, died Monday at her Capitola home after a period of failing health. A native of San Juan Bautista, where she was born September 15, 1890, Mrs. Silvey made her home in Carmel from 1950 until the death of her husband, the late C. M. Silvey, in 1962, when she moved to Capitola.

In addition to Kip Silvey, she leaves another son, Gerald Thomas Silvey of San Francisco; a daughter, Mrs. G. V. Hutchinson of Newark, New Jersey; and five grandchildren.

A requiem mass was celebrated yesterday morning in Saint Patrick's Church, Watsonville, with Monsignor Michael O'Connell, Mrs. Silvey's former pastor at Carmel Mission, officiating. Burial followed in Saint Patrick's Cemetery in Watsonville.

Mrs. Branson Gives Talk About Welfare Costs In California

The frequent mistake about higher welfare spending is that more and more so-called welfare families are "getting in on" public assistance, according to Mrs. Willard Branson of Carmel Valley, regional vice president of the California Association for Health and Welfare.

One of the objectives of the 64-year-old state-wide social planning and community welfare association is "the interpretation of welfare costs in relation to improved services," Mrs. Branson explained during the association's recent annual conference in Los Angeles. She pointed out that "while it is certainly true that public welfare expenditures have doubled in California in the past five years, this does not necessarily mean that more and more 'welfare families' are on public assistance.

"Only a small percentage of the total welfare rolls is made up of the unemployed or marginally employed. As of six months ago, the aged comprised 29 per cent of the total; dependent children 57 per cent of the total, and the disabled 6 per cent," the state association leader asserted.

Major reasons cited by Mrs. Branson as factors in higher spending have been increased population, extended medical care, and the higher cost of living.

Arts Commission Hears Proposals For Carmel's Golden Anniversary Party

That, next year, the 50th anniversary of the incorporation of the City of Carmel falls on Halloween "must, in a way, set some sort of atmosphere," observed Chairman Barbara Norberg at a special meeting of the arts commission last Friday called to consider fitting celebrations for the city's golden anniversary.

Mrs. Norberg declared that the purpose of the 1966 celebration, which will be the responsibility of the arts commission, should be to "entertain Carmel citizens and foster arts and crafts." It should "not be tourist-oriented but nice and different . . . wholesome," she maintained.

Among her proposals for the Halloween event was a "Pied Piper" parade with citizens, in costume, marching up Ocean Avenue to the city-owned Forest Theater where there could be a craft fair, clothesline art show, food sold by the youth center, and dancing on the outdoor stage.

Other proposals Mrs. Norberg presented to the commission were, starting early in 1966, the sale of a commemorative car sticker to finance golden anniversary costs; preparation of biographical data on artists whose work is exhibited in the memorial collection at city hall; and preparation of a tour map of all Carmel art galleries.

She stated tht Medill Bair, superintendent of the Carmel Unified School District, had agreed to orient history, English, art and social studies instruction in the school system with the city's celebration, particularly emphasizing Carmel's Spanish heritage and early day writers and artists. She also announced that Mr. Bair would arrange for cooperation between the school system and the arts commission for the establishment of a children's art gallery. Proposed location of this gallery is the Sunset cultural and community center.

Between June and October, 1966, Mrs. Norberg suggested that a play by a Carmel dramatist, Robinson Jeffers or Martin Flavin for example, could be produced at the Forest Theater; also a contest for Carmel artists might be held. Another idea she had for a golden anniversary event during these months was a festival of drama incorporating music and ballet.

In respect to this idea, she said she had discussed with Elayne Lavrans Chanslor the possibility of this Carmel composer creating a special musical theme.

Mrs. Norberg stressed that celebration of the half-century of the city's existence should "revive the idea of doing" and "bring back the idea of participating" in community activities. "This is culture to me," she declared.

Other events, leading up to the final community costume parade and party on Halloween, suggested by Mrs. Norberg were community sings at the Forest Theater and the compilation of a talent file or register. The 50th birthday celebrations might well "uncover new talent" for this file she averred.

Commissioner Geza St. Galy proposed the unveiling of a memorial plaque listing the names of Carmel writers and artists; also presentation of films centered on the early days of Carmel.

Mrs. Norberg asked all other members of the commission to compile lists of possible events for the city's golden jubilee before the next meeting on August 11. She pointed out that all events should "begin in this community" and be under complete control of the arts commission. Final plans will be submitted to the city council for approval.

"We have a lot of missionary work to do," observed Mrs. Norberg. All Carmel organizations, including churches and guilds, must co-operate, she pointed out, if the city's golden birthday celebration is to be "a party to end all parties." Specifically, she mentioned that businesses and art galleries be asked to exhibit work of local artists and to sell the commemorative car stickers.

"We can't stand on street corners," she told other commissioners.

Fence Trouble On Council Tree Tour

Controversy over a fence which intrudes into the undeveloped section of Ninth Street between Junipero and Torres arose on the city council's tree inspection tour on Tuesday.

The council took no action on the request of Mrs. Julia Minor that the fence, which intrudes into the Ninth Street right-of-way, should be maintained but informed her that the city can, at any time, request its removal. The fence encloses city-owned trees in the garden of a dwelling.

This fence became the basis of a controversy between Matthew Beaton and the council. Mr. Beaton owns land across Ninth. He requested permission to erect a double carport in the undeveloped right-of-way. The council did not grant this request on the grounds that public land cannot be developed for the exclusive use of a private property owner.

Mr. Beaton maintained his proposed carport was no more an infringement on the right-of-way than Mrs. Minor's fence and garden. He first threatened to bring a taxpayer's suit against the city but finally decided to formally request removal of the fence. This matter will be considered by the council following submission of the request.

Also on the council's Tuesday tree tour, Miss Catherine Davis' request that the city remove acacias on Tenth at the corner of San Carlos was granted and the request of Mrs. C. J. Hamlin to have a cypress trimmed at the corner of Scenic and Eighth was denied.

U.S. Navy Offers School Guarantee To June Graduates

The U.S. Navy can now guarantee technical training schools to young men who graduated from high school or junior college last June.

The Navy can also allow a young man to postpone reporting for active duty for up to 120 days.

Commander Richard Williams, officer in charge of navy recruiting in northern California, Nevada and Utah, announces that young men qualifying for training as nuclear power specialists, electronics specialists or as a hospital corpsman will be, prior to enlistment, guaranteed assignment to a technical school immediately following basic training.

Young men not qualified for these programs can be enlisted in a program guaranteeing formal schooling following basic training, but the exact specialty will be determined during recruit training utilizing professional guidance counseling and testing. In this latter category are an almost infinite number of fields, from journalism to aviation mechanic, from personnel and clerical work to boatswain's mate. In all, there are some 60 job specialties from which to choose.

Under provisions of the Navy's "Cache" program, a young man can enlist in the Navy immediately, establishing his eligibility for Naval service and protecting himself from Selective Service draft, but delay reporting for active duty up to 120 days.

June graduates can obtain further information concerning these programs from: Chief McCoy, BTCS, USN, at the Monterey Post Office or by telephoning 372-1433.

Nancy, who has lived in Carmel off and on, since childhood, is the daughter of Mrs. Alice Lawson Catlin of Ross and Richard Montgomery Catlin of Carmel. She is the granddaughter of the late Edith Catlin, a resident of Carmel for many years.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an A-line empire style gown of peau de soie with a chapel train edged in lace and carried a cascading bouquet of lilies.

Nancy Catlin was her sister's maid of honor, and her other attendants were Mrs. Meredith Simpson, Mrs. Ann Brant, Mrs. Sherrye Burger and Janice Yaritsune.

David Foster was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Howard Schwartz, John Gardner, James Westphal and Lamar Lund.

Nancy attended Santa Catalina School for Girls, Sara Dix Hamlin School in San Francisco and Dominican College. She is a recent graduate of Columbia University School of Dental Hygiene.

Her husband, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bradstreet Foster of Piedmont, is a graduate of Stanford University, where he was affiliated with Theta Delta Chi fraternity.

Both writers are students of Maxine Shore's class, Writing for Publication, at the Carmel Adult School.

News Of The Jerry Bergs

A spectacular place to celebrate a birthday is Africa's Victoria Falls. Yesterday, Mrs. Jerry Berg (the former Janet Fehring of Carmel) was doing just that. She and her husband, a Maxwell Foundation legal advisor to the Prime Minister of Malawi, have been traveling in Africa before flying to England, via Rome, Berlin and Frankfort. At Oxford, England, Jerry will participate in the orientation of newly selected lawyers for the Maxwell Foundation's project of assisting newly established governments in Africa.

The Bergs, who were married in Carmel last summer, will have a short time in London before returning, via Cairo, to Blantyre and Zomba, Malawi, to continue their individual work—Janet is teaching at the Catholic high school there.

Carmel Girl Scouts Entertain Two Girl Guides From Canada

On July 23, Cadette Girl Scout Troop No. 2158 of Carmel entertained two Canadian Girl Guides who are visiting the Monterey Bay Girl Scout Council until August 8.

The Canadian visitors, Shelagh Mahoney from Vancouver, British Columbia, and Jane Hopper of Rexdale, Ontario, spent time touring various parts of the Monterey Bay area during their visit. They are enroute to the Girl Scouts of the USA All-States Encampment to be held in the Nantahala National Forest in western North Carolina from August 9-27. At the encampment they will join five other Canadian Girl Guides and more than 100 Girl Scouts for special orientation prior to making a backpacking trip into the Nantahala Forest.

Under the leadership of Mrs. E. E. Austing, the Carmel Cadette troop took the Canadian girls to Mission San Carlos de Borromeo. They also visited galleries, quaint shops and Carmel beach.

FALL MPC ADMISSIONS BEING TAKEN UNTIL AUG. 19

Applications for Fall admission to Monterey Peninsula College are being taken now, with August 19 as the cutoff date, Registrar Louise White announces.

Early acceptance is a distinct advantage to a student, Mrs. White says. She also points out that evening students planning to take only one or two new courses need not apply for admission, unless those courses are a part of a full program or the students are working toward a degree.

Placement examinations, required of anyone who wants to take over six units of work, have been scheduled for August 13 and 20, 8:30 a.m. in the Armory on campus.

Pre-registration of entering day students will take place from August 16 through September 3. Actual registration — the completion of all paperwork—will occur September 8 and 10.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel 624-3881.

Captain Edward B. Flaherty (USNR Ret.) of Carmel recently addressed a joint meeting of the Reserve Officer's Association and the Reserve Officers Association Ladies on the subject of the proposal of Secretary of Defense McNamara to merge the U.S. Army Reserve with the National Guard. Captain Flaherty was the area representative on the California delegation to the 1965 National ROA-ROAL convention in Detroit.

The meeting, held at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School, was preceded by a potluck supper and concluded the business activities of the two organizations for the summer. The only summer activity will be an informal picnic on August 22 at the East Garrison picnic grounds at Fort Ord.

Named For Her Grandmothers

Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Antoncich Jr. (Pamela Canfield) of Lafayette are the happy parents of their first child, a daughter, whose arrival has been eagerly awaited in two local households. The new baby, born at Saint Francis Hospital in San Francisco on July 25, has been named Camilla Elizabeth — Camilla for her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Matthew C. Jenkins of Pebble Beach, and Elizabeth for her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Michael A. Antoncich of Carmel Valley.

She is the granddaughter, also, of Michael A. Antoncich of Carmel Valley, and the niece of Mrs. Paul Sullivan of Redwood City, George Canfield, and Steven, Franci and Gay Antoncich.

The junior Antonciches, who were married at Carmel Mission last year, are making their home in Lafayette while "Mickey" attends Hastings Law School in San Francisco.

More New Carmelites

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dickinson are the parents of a new son, Andrew Carver, who was born at Community Hospital on July 24 and is the brother of Craig Dickinson, aged 12½. His maternal grandmother is Mrs. Evelyn Anderson of San Jose and his paternal grandfather is Rodney Dickinson, also of San Jose.

Another new arrival is Jeffrey Anthony Jayubo, first child of Mr. and Mrs. Mario Jayubo of Mission Fields. Jeffrey, who was born at Community Hospital on July 27, is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Jayubo of Seaside and of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Jacinto of Cavite in the Philippines.

MUSIC AND DANCE OF INDIA

Music and dance of the north and south of India will be performed two weekends during September at Big Sur Hot Springs, Big Sur. Labor Day weekend, September 4-5, Ali Akbar Kahn, regarded as one of India's great musicians, will give two concerts using as his instrument the delicate and demanding sarod, a pear-shaped, slender-necked instrument, somewhat like a guitar, with a metal finger-board and a total of 25 metal strings.

Ustad Ali Akbar Khan (Ustad is a title, from a Persian word meaning "master musician") was born in Bengal and received his early musical tutoring from his father. For years Ali Akbar Khan has practiced music for 18 hours a day, and this dedication has brought him international recognition. He is the State Musician of Jodhpur, and teaches and counsels people from all of India.

Ten years ago this Indian artist was brought to the United States, at the request of the renowned violinist Yehudi Menuhin, for two performances at the Museum of Modern Art in New York. The following year he established the Ali Akbar Khan College of Music in Calcutta. Soon followed extensive trips and performances in Asia, Africa, Europe and in this country. Two years ago he won recognition at the Edinburgh Festival, and was sponsored by the Canadian Arts Council for a series of lecture-recitals at the University of Montreal and at McGill University. Last year he was sponsored by UNESCO.

Ali Akbar Khan is also a composer of classical music and has written scores for a number of films and compositions for the All India Radio. He has received the President of India's Award for his contribution to Indian music.

In the concerts at Big Sur Hot Springs, Ali Akbar Khan will be accompanied by Shankar Ghosh playing the tabla (a North Indian drum), and by Miss Sheela Mookerjee, vocalist and musician. Her instrument is the tamboura, a long-stemmed lute.

A weekend of Indian dance is scheduled for September 24-26 with Shrimati T. Balasarasvati and a troupe of musicians, which will be held out-of-doors at the Hot Springs. The performances will follow two months of teaching in the first American Society for Eastern Arts summer school held at Mills College.

Shrimati T. Balasarasvait is descended from a long line of temple dancers. Her great-grandmother was a court dancer of legendary fame who performed until the age of 75. Her grandmother was a singer and performer and her mother, Jayammal, is a well known singer. A brother is a professional flutist in South India and another brother, Ramanathan (who is a member of the troupe coming to Big Sur) is a performer on the mridangam, the South Indian two-headed drum.

Balasarasvati, or "Bala," as she is often called, has participated in numerous national seminars on music and dance in India and has received honors conferred by the President of India. Bala first came to the United States three years ago for a four-month tour sponsored by the Asia Society Performing Arts Program. During this time she gave 40 concerts and daily performances at Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival. Ted Shawn, director at Jacob's Pillow, said of her work that she is the "supreme dance performer of India." Also she included dance performances at Harvard and Yale University of Pennsylvania, Princeton, Juilliard School of Music in New York, UCLA, and other universities and schools of learning.

Ustad Alia Akbar Khan and Shrimati T. Balasaraswati are in this country under the auspices of The American Society for Eastern Arts, an organization whose purpose is to make available to Western audiences the finest aspects of the performing arts of the Asian world.

The Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History announces a competitive watercolor exhibition sponsored by the Pacific Grove Kiwanis Club to be held September 22 through October 24. Any Monterey County resident may enter by paying a $2.00 fee for which two paintings may be submitted.

The show will be juried and judged by a nationally known watercolorist, George Post of San Francisco. Prizes will be: 1st—$100; 2nd—$50, and 3rd—$25. The hanging committee will be June Braucht, Bernice Huber, Betty Harrington, and the museum staff. Approximately 50 watercolors will be hung.

Any aqueous medium will be eligible. The paintings must be original non-classroom work done within one year of the exhibition and not previously hung in a juried show. Paintings may be submitted from September 8 until September 15. Entry forms, further rules and information may be obtained from the museum by telephoning 372-4212.

On view for the month of August at the Carmel Foundation Town House is the work of Miss Lake Wilcox of Carmel, who paints in oil and watercolor and specializes in landscapes. The Town House is open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Currently on display in the guest gallery of Carmel Valley Manor is a group of water colors and oils by Carmel artist Fred Klepich.

The Monterey Peninsula chapter of the American Federation of Arts will hold its fifth annual Artist's Studio Open House on August 7. The 14 stops on this year's tour will all be in Carmel Valley. They include Carmel Rancho Community Room, where work of Valley artists will be on display and the studios of Joe Ataide, Catherine and George Seideneck, Jeanne Fosnot, Margaret and Jim Ziegler, Ann Rugh and Eugene Baker, Marlinde von Ruhs, Alex Weygers and Eve Tartar Brown.

Homes open on the tour will be those of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanton, Jeannette Bedwell and Mrs. Henry Potter Russell whose gracious and stately home contains paintings by Fragonard, Manet, Monet and Derain.

Also on the tour will be Monterey Pottery where Rudy Marzi will be working, and Tantamount Theatre, where puppets by Ralph Geddis and Francois Martin, costume sketches by Rollo Peters and paintings by Jack Swanson will be shown.

The tour will start at 11 a.m. and continue until 5 p.m. Tickets are $3.00 for adults and $1.50 for children and members of the armed forces in uniform. They may be obtained at the AFA gallery on Lincoln Street or at any of the stops on the day of the tour.

Luncheon will be served under the oaks at Tantamount Theatre from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The cost for this will be $1.50.

The Lyceum of the Monterey Peninsula sponsored two summer art workshops at Carmel Junior High School. One group of 20 fifth and sixth grade students attended six sessions given by a Pacific Grove artist, Jay Hannah, working with poster paints and making collages. Of the 20 students, six were from Carmel school district.

Another group of 20 advanced students in Grades 7 through 11 were given eight two-hour seminars by Glenn Powell, Carmel artist and teacher. They studied the science of light and space, techniques, and materials used by the working artist. Nine of these students were from Carmel.

The co-ordinator for both summer workshops was Mrs. Arthur Strasburger Jr., of Carmel, who is the Lyceum art workshop chairman.

Students for these courses are recommended by their schools as showing special talent in the field of art. The major cost of supplies for these and previous workshops, have been paid for by grants from the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services.

Eugene Baker is chairman of the selections and hanging committee for a new Carmel Art Association exhibition of painting and sculpture by artist members.

The show opens today in the Association Gallery on Dolores Street and will run until September 2.

Alexander G. Weygers of Carmel Valley won a second-place award and $250 in California State Fair art competition with his marble sculpture, "Ondine."

Five other Monterey County artists and craftsmen were among winners named by Mrs. Archibald Mull, director in charge of the art show. Their work will be shown throughout the 12-day run of the Fair beginning September 1.

Tom Perry's Boat Wins Jenkins Races

The final two races of the Matt Jenkins Series, named in honor of the long-time secretary-treasurer of the Stillwater Yacht Club, were held Sunday at Stillwater Cove. Mr. Jenkins, a former contender with his Mercury sloop "First Today," and Mrs. Jenkins, chairman of the club's entertainment committee, now sail their Islander class sloop, "First Today II," to assist the race committee, whose chairman is Larry Sweeney.

Winner of the four-race series was Thomas Perry's boat, skippered by Kent Clark. Runners-up, in order of place, were Richard Catlin, Larry Washburn, John Gratiot Jr., Frank Bray, James Cost, Mark Raggett, Evan Wythe and Jack Gilbert.

The number of entrants was smaller than usual due to the absence of several boats, among them those of Evan Wythe and Van Yates in the final two races. Both were racing this week in the Mercury National Championships at Ventura. Mrs. Lorilott Clark, whose "Piper" took first place in the first two races of this series, withdrew her boat because of a hand injury which prevented her from sailing.

Vijaya's lecture-demonstration performances have been presented on educational television and under the auspices of universities, cultural organizations and art museums throughout the United States. Currently, she is giving instruction in the classical Indian dance at Mills College.

Circle Theatre's 'Billy Liar' Is An Outstanding Production

By Lloyd Jenkins

A timely comedy, "Billy Liar," by English playwrights Keith Waterhouse and Willis Hall, made an inspired entry as the second outstanding production by the newly amalgamated Community Theater of the Monterey Peninsula. Norman McPhee, associate director of this group, has auspiciously initiated his debut by clever casting and full utilization of mobility within a thoroughly authentic and functional setting designed by Carol (Mrs. Norman) McPhee.

The tenure of the play comprises one segmented day—morning, afternoon and evening—and depicts a middle-class English family's evolvement through the whims and wiles of the young man, Billy Fisher, in and about whose home the action takes place. This modern teen-ager's dilemma is wildly compounded by his ever-increasing circle of fabrications, not maliciously contrived, but nevertheless — disastrously laughable. The fanciful web of an over-imaginative "broadening of truths" and "romantics" of Billy "Liar" Fisher brought roars of laughter and appreciation from opening night enthusiasts and will be evocatively greater with each smoothing performance.

The eight members of the cast are to be greatly commended for their sensitivity to dialect and demeanor which could become farcical without attentive restraint. The characters are finely delineated for greatest appreciation through reactions to Billy's many fanciful tales and rebellious activities to escape entanglements of his own distorted making.

Nick Hovick has effected the complete task in the most admirable manner by the far-from-simple rudiments of underplaying the most demanding role of Billy Fisher, the focal figure of this vehicle. His mastery of difficult nuances of dialect, transitional moods of hope, anger, despair and warmth are the more enhanced by his timely comedy sense to blend the author's focus. This young performer is aware of his craft and will be heard from in future, be assured.

Florence Boothroyd, the "Granny" in the Fisher household, is delightfully portrayed by Jean McGill, the picture characterization, that evokes rib-tickling manifestations on "in-home" family problems as well as running commentaries on the "telly" soap-opera she constantly pursues.

Helen Vogel enacts the role of Alice Fisher, Billy's mother, and maintains the maternal qualifications of protection with exasperation, plus being buffer to Billy's inanely complicated "engagements" with fiancees and father, a thoroughly believable performance.

Derek Napier Lawford elicits a superbly poignant role as Geoffrey Fisher, the father in every conceivable meaning. Completely discouraged and angry with the untidy, irrepressible attitudes of the youthful Billy, he continually rankles at his cursing best but tenderly conveys "the other side-of-the-coin" with his wife and Granny in flowing dialect with an inescapable flair for the impervious laughter the lines evoke.

Arthur Crabtree is Billy's close buddy and confidant. Robert Barrett bouncily plays the very laughter out of this role of half-believer of half-truths and middleman to Billy's rigorous schedule of half promises of marriage to half the girls he escorts throughout the play.

Layne Littlepage as Barbara wears the engagament ring at the outset. Engagingly shy and comically coy, her continual orange-peeling during romantic overtures by Billy creates opportune belly-laughs by her extremely wide-eyed portrayal of innocence, brilliantly handled by this capable young actress.

Katrin Stoney as Rita, the part-time amour of Billy and sundry friends, is the counterpart of Barbara through a coarse characterization and elicits little sympathy. However, she causes great consternation and excitement upon learning of Billy's "double-cross" on promise of marriage. Miss Stoney is capably endowed with ability to perform the role of the raucous tart amid a whirlwind of laughter.

Anne Brown as Liz, another of Billy's amorous conquests, does a splendid job in balance with an authentically tender scene at a depressing time for Billy. She is completely believable in evoking a warm moment, one of the really significant episodes in Billy's complicated and fanciful existence.

The lighting effects by Charles Richmond are a gem of proficiency for the added motivation of plot and scene focus.

This production, overall, is especially recommended by this reviewer because I can safely assure the quality of excellence and enjoyment without thought of reprisal, unless you don't believe in laughing. "Billy Liar" will play Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings though September 12. Curtain time 8:30 p.m.

KIWANIS CLUB

At last Thursday's meeting of the Carmel Kiwanis Club, members heard president Don Mitchell describe the Kiwanis International convention held at Madison Square Garden in New York. According to Mr. Mitchell, there was excellent programs and entertainment for the more than 25,000 delegates in attendance. The principal address of the convention was given by Norman Vincent Peale.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Dorothy T. Colvin
Children's Librarian

Summer is much with us at the Harrison Memorial Library . . . and so are the Beachcombers! In case you hadn't heard, members of our summer reading club are earning shells as they read. We visualize many conchologists in the embryo stage, as well as all the reading that is being accomplished. We have 160 members enrolled from second through ninth grades, so we are looking forward to a jolly beach party for all participants on August 27, which will conclude the activities of the club.

Clare Newberry, KITTENS ABC. A new edition of an alphabet book published nearly 20 years ago and long out of print. The artist's orginal water colors have been completely replaced by more characteristic soft, textural drawings of furry creatures in an engaging variety of mood and movement. (Picture book).

Elizabeth Coatsworth, CRICKET AND THE EMPEROR'S SON. On a small scale, here is a sort of Japanese-version Scherherazade, the magic paper that never ran out of stories. By dividing the book into separate tales, it will be delightful for reading aloud. (Grade 5-6).

Wilson Gage, BIG BLUE ISLAND. Darrell hadn't seen his father in years, and his mother had just died; the welfare people had sent him to stay with an uncle in Tennessee. But Darrell hadn't realized he would be on an island. The plot is minimal; the mood and atmosphere are vivid and the depiction of Darrell is powerful. (Grade 5-7).

Betty Baker, WALK THE WORLD'S RIM. An unusual aspect of a search that has often been described before, that of Cabeza de Vaca and his companions. The young Indian Chakoh learns the important lessons that honor and courage bring; and that slavery, rather than the slave, is to be despised. (Grade 6-9).

Olive Earle, BIRDS AND THEIR BEAKS. Carefully selected facts about and meticulous drawings of 46 birds. Index. (Grade 3-5).

Robert Hofsinde, author-illustrator, INDIAN WARRIORS AND THEIR WEAPONS. A brief account of weapons and war tactics of seven famous American Indian tribes. Fans of Hofsinde will welcome this addition to our collection. (Grade 3-5).

Clyde Beatty, FACING THE BIG CATS. The recent death of this well known animal trainer will make more pertinent this account of how a trainer works and some of the dramatic moments of danger and terror he encountered in his many years in the business. (7 and up).

ON SPECIAL DUTY

Sergeant First Class Ivan A. Makinster is among staff members of the 94th Evacuation Hospital from Fort Lewis, Washington, who are on hand to provide medical and dental treatment for 11,000 teen-age girls and counselors at the 1965 Girl Scout Senior Roundup at Farragut, Idaho.

Sergeant Makinster, a graduate of Pacific College in Newberg, Oregon, is a medical registrar clerk and has been in service since 1941. His wife, Eugenie, is a resident of Carmel Valley.

Sunset Commission Considers Rentals At Cultural Center

Last week, Sunset commissioners decided to prepare a statement for the city council concerning which uses the commission considers desirable, also acceptable, for the future development and use of the Sunset center property.

This action was taken following consideration of a report on steps necessary for the future of the development, also present use of the municipal facility, prepared by Rear Admiral C. W. Fisher (USN Ret.), a member of the commission.

In renting space in the city-owned center, commissioners have received requests for use of space in the buildings which might be construed to conflict with intent of the bond issue to purchase the property.

The proposed statement would clarify this situation.

On July 26, Sunset commissioners, after due deliberation, recommended that the city council allow the local chapter of the American Federation of Arts to occupy the cafeteria area of the main building for an oil painting classroom, also the former kitchen, as a storage area, at no cost.

Leonard Heller, AFA president, convinced the commission that his organization contributes much to the community by presenting free art exhibitions in the AFA gallery on Lincoln Street. Mr. Heller requested the library area but there was a request for paid occupancy of this room. Commissioners, therefore, temporarily assigned to the AFA an uncommitted area with the provision that any requests for evening meetings in the cafeteria must be honored by the AFA.

Rentals of rooms referred to the city council for approval were: Bach Festival, $75 per month; Carmel Art Institute, library, $160 a month. Held for further consideration was a request from the Community Church for the kindergarten bungalow and the United Nations Association for a room.

(Last night the city council approved the Bach Festival office rental but referred to its committee on administration the Carmel Art Institute and AFA recommendations. Members of this committee, Mayor Herbert Blanks and Councilman Eben Whittlesey, will report on the two rentals at the next meeting of the council.)

Both the Bach Festival and Community Theatre received approval to install additional electrical wiring, at their own expense, in premises they will occupy.

Means of meeting the cost of lighting the baseball field for night games were discussed but, lacking detailed information, commissioners held over this matter.

City Admiinstrator Hugh Bayless informed the commission that a special aluminum ladder, cost $721, was needed to change and set up lights in the auditorium and no funds had been budgeted for this new expense. The matter was referred to the commission's finance committee for study and report.

About Tourists, Visitors and the Locals—

TOURISTS . . . Tourists are people in cameras, aloha shirts and/or muu-muus. They came to look at us out of a sense of duty, as a part of seeing America first, and see us primarily as quaint pages in their scrapbooks or as frames on their movie screens. They prefer neon lights, sidewalks, and street addresses. They talk about returning on future vacations, but you wouldn't want to live in that kooky town! They can't find our office.

VISITORS . . . Visitors are non-residents who come to see us frequently because they have a continuing love affair with our village and our ocean. They actually walk on our beaches, buy things in our shops, and only the sheer impracticality of uprooting themselves from their present business elsewhere prevents them from becoming locals. They always stop to see us when they are here.

LOCALS . . . Locals are people who, through the kind permission of the Gods, live in Carmel permanently. They walk on the beaches when the tourists are gone and the sun isn't. They shop when the shops aren't crowded, and they know where to find a parking place. They have lived all over the world and have chosen Carmel for their permanent way of life. They use their library cards, play instruments, paint pictures or make things, or appreciate those who do. They have all the virtues—are kind, good, sweet and pure. If your dog gets lost, you hope he is found by a local.

LIKE TO BECOME A LOCAL? We'd be happy to interview you and, if you qualify, would consider it a privilege to help you find a home or business here. Finding our office is the first test.

Earlier Than Usual Christmas Tree Lighting Request

A Christmas in August atmosphere prevailed at the city council meeting last night. This was caused by an earlier than usual request from the Carmel Business Association for the two municipal Christmas trees to be lighted on December 1. Each year, the association asks the same permission. Each year the council defers the lighting until the middle of December as it did last night, with Councilman James C. Buffington dissenting, as he does each year.

The council received the resignation of Chief Building Inspector Richard G. Thomas, effective September 10. He is returning to work with "his love the missile game," Mayor Blanks stated.

Denied was the $700,000 claim for injuries in an automobile accident received from O. P. Singh and Davender Singh. The council referred the matter to its insurance carriers. The two men from India hit a parked car and a tree on Dolores Street.

The arts commission was given permission for a parade of the Salinas Highlanders Pipe Band on August 22. This group will march from the city hall to the Forest Theater to give a concert.

The council denied an arts commission request to increase the membership of this body and authority for it to solicit, collect and disburse funds, and referred to the council's public welfare committee the arts commission request to review business district construction plans before the planning commission issues a building permit.

The council passed a resolution, which will be forwarded to the Monterey County Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors, asking that no use permits for oil drilling in Carmel and Monterey bays be allowed.

A resolution of appreciation for the services of the city's former attorney, John W. Morse, was authorized. First reading was given to an ordinance limiting the height of FM antennas and another ordinance revising the municipal code to eliminate conflicts with the new municipal salary and classification plan. The council approved the submission of all new business district fence construction and accessory buildings, such as telephone booths, to the planning commission's design review committtee for approval before construction.

No action was taken on Assembly Bill 734 which allows city councilmen to be paid salaries. Councilman Norberg objected. He thought members of the council should receive compensation.

Mayor Blanks appointed A. M. Plaxton, Clayton Neill Sr. and Thomas McKinstry to the city's disaster council.

Pick Architects For Community Church

The architectural firm of Burde, Shaw and Associates has been selected to design and supervise construction of a new church and related buildings for the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula.

The selection was announced by the church's board of governor's after a special meeting last Thursday evening at which time a report of the building committee was received.

Architect Walter Burde stated that preliminary design work will be started immediately for the church which will be located on the south side of Carmel Valley Road, approximately three-quarters of a mile east of Highway One and directly east of the Carmel Middle School.

Approval for the location of church buildings on this site was given on July 8 by the county board of zoning adjustment.

MPC TAX UNCHANGED

Last night trustees of the Monterey Peninsula Junior College District adopted a $3,100,839 budget for the 1965-66 fiscal year and set the junior college tax rate at 52 and two-tenths cents, the same as last year.

President George J. Faul, reports that although the budget figure is larger than last year, it includes money for a manpower development traihing program which will be financed by federal funds. This sum must appear in the budget, however.

Trustees Hear Heated Debate Over Air Strip

At the meeting of Carmel Unified School District trustees, last night, a heated controversy arose over the question of hazards to Tularcitos School children posed by the proximity of the Carmel Valley Airport after Clyde P. Barnett, director of the California Aeronautics Division, presented the agency's position in reply to a letter from the board. Mr. Barnett repeatedly stressed several points: (1) the limitation of the agency's control over private airports; (2) the community need of this type of facility; (3) the superior safety record in small airport operation and in the combination of highly qualified instructors with student pilots in training flights; (4) that the safety of children is the school board's responsibility until the students return home, also its responsibility to educate the children not to cross the air strip; (5) prior rights in land use.

John C. Sigourney of Carmel Valley, challenged Mr. Barnett's assertions that the airport presents a minimum hazard to Tularcitos School and, armed with advice from private counsel, that the CAB has so little power to control the operation of private airports. Stating that any airport presents a "calculated risk," Mr. Barnett explained that if the required traffic pattern of take-off and landing is being violated, the operation can legally be suspended. Mr. Sigourney maintained that since recent legislation requires new schools be constructed at least two miles from any airport a safety hazard must exist under conditions of greater proximity.

Following further debate between trustees, Mr. Sigourney and Mr. Barnett, the board moved, with Dr. Bialek dissenting, to direct the superintendent to send a letter to Mr. Barnett asking him to require the owner of the airport to fence it; and also that he take the necessary steps to prohibit use of the airstrip by student pilots during school hours.

In other action last night the board accepted with gratitude a gift of $800 from the Carmel Adult School Pottery Class toward purchase of a new kiln; approved Granite Construction Company's bid of $5,298 for grading and paving at Middle School, also the base bid of W. W. Bill Lang of $6,780 for renovation of the tennis courts at the high school.

In his oral report on plans for the 1965-66 high school year, principal Warren Edwards told the board that projected enrollment is expected to reach 900, with preregistration already at 840 students. With Superintendent Medill Bair, Mr. Edwards discussed with the board the use of new multimedia facilities, the innovation of small study centers in place of conventional study halls, and the matter of discipline among high school students.

After hearing the superintendent's suggestions for future agendas, the board moved to set August 11 as the date for an executive session for the purpose of assembling a list of personnel for the citizen's committee to study the financial needs of the district.

Council Has Solution For Girl Scout, Library, Forest Theater Problems

The proposals were:

1. The city acquire title to the property in order that it may be used for library purposes.

2. In exchange for the title, the city will provide meeting and storage facilities for Girl Scouts residing in the Carmel area in the theatre-in-the-ground at the Forest Theater.

3. The Harrison Memorial Library will contribute from its building fund the money necessary to make the theatre-in-the-ground suitable for use by the Girl Scouts and the arts commission.

The council's resolution declared that the Carmel Art Commission, also the Girl Scout organizations involved, are satisfied with the above arrangements and the Harrison Memorial Library Board is willing to contribute reasonable funds to make the Forest Theater premises suitable for use by both the arts commission and the Girl Scouts, if the matter is resolved in a reasonable time.

Conditions to accomplish what Mayor Herbert Blanks called "a good and workable solution" to the problems of the Girl Scouts, Forest Theater and the library were: (a) The city council will enter into a long lease with appropriate Girl Scout representatives so as to grant them a non-exclusive lease of the theatre-in-the-ground for five days a week during the school year. (b) Complete precedence will be given to arts commission programs or functions during the summer months when school is not in session and, upon occasion, at other times. (c) The lease will give the city the right to relocate the Girl Scouts on other suitable facilities within the city, at no expense to the Girl Scouts.

Forest Theater Square Dance Gala

Featured next Sunday at the Forest Theater will be square dancing, presented by the Carmel Arts Commission as part of its Sunday afternoon series. The public is invited and admission is free. Additionally, experienced dancers who may be in the audience will be invited to come up on the big open-air stage to take part. The show starts at 2 p.m.

Half a dozen callers and square dancing groups will participate. Caller for the Carmel Valley Silver Slippers, as well as for the Big Sur South Coasters, will be Archie B. Fleming, who performed the same function in last summer's performance in the Forest Theater.

There will be three callers and groups from Salinas: Jeanne Moody, with the "Hill Billies"; Bud Edgerton calling for the "Crazy Shoes"; and Harry Miller, with the "Rodeo Swingers."

Also present to add their lilt and rhythm to next Sunday's activities will be groups from King City and Gonzales. Caller for King City's "Bitter Water Buckaroos" will be Babe Russell, while Otis Hillibough will perform the same function for the Gonzales "Country Swingers."
